LACK OF HOME LIFE BACK OF CRIME GROWTH

Randolph McAdams Tells Kiwanis Workings of Ohio Probation System.

Loosening of the strings on young people and the breaking up of the home, with the consequential formation of bad habits, are blamed by Randolph McAdams, chief of the Ohio division of paroles and pardons, for increasing crime, which is marked by the increasing youthfulness of the offenders.

Mr. McAdams who was formerly inspector of all prisons, reformatories and jails in which federal prisoners were incarcerated, addressed the Circleville Kiwanis club at Hanley's tea room Monday night on the subject of "Prison Reform."

The adolescent years are the important years in the life of every boy and girl, Mr. McAdams declared, pointing out that it is the time when habits are formed. It is easy, he said, to form bad habits and parental discipline is essential to the formation of good ones. Of 2724 prisoners in Leavenworth at one time, he declared, 2278 had one or both parents dead.

HUMAN NATURE SAME
Human nature, he asserted, has not changed. The boys of today, Mr. McAdams said, obey the same impulses that boys followed a thousand years ago. However, the laws governing human conduct have become more complex and more strict, making it easier to violate the law.

Mr. McAdams made a plea for understanding of young folks and for giving them another chance. The giving of the first offender another chance is the work with which he is now associated.

Figures show that 81 percent of first offenders, who are placed on parole, have made good and have become useful and valuable members of society. Under the parole and probation system, the first offenders are made to realize the seriousness of their crimes and allowed to expiate them without the ignominy and many times moral destruction of prison terms.

SEEKS UNIFORM SYSTEM
Mr. McAdams is now engaged in placing the parole and probation work in Ohio under an uniform system with a responsible probation officer in each county to replace the haphazard methods which have been in vogue in Ohio since the parole and probation law was passed in 1925.

Credit is given by Mr. McAdams to the administration of Gov. Myers Y. Cooper in making this work possible. The division of probation and parole was created in 1925, but was ignored until Gov. Cooper took office. The importance of its work cannot be estimated, Mr. McAdams said, pointing out that by Jan. 1, 1930 his division will have charge of about 2000 paroled men and women, meaning a direct saving to the state of $400,000 which would be needed for their care in prison and, of the 2,000, reclaiming 1,600 for society.

TRIBUTE TO DAUGHTERY
Tribute was also paid by Mr. Adams to Harry Daugherty, former U. S. attorney general, for his work in drafting and obtaining the passage of two bills creating the U. S. reformatory at Chillicothe and the women's reformatory at Alderson. Public credit has never been given to Daugherty for this work, which relieved congestion in federal prisons and which made the first provision for the proper housing of federal female prisoners, according to Mr. McAdams.

The club voted to purchase two rubber school zone caution signs, which are fastened into the street paving, to safeguard students at the high school on S. Court-st. Members of the club and their wives were also invited to attend the ladies' night meeting of the Lancaster Kiwanis club on Wednesday night, Oct. 9. It was announced that H. E. C. Rowe, state representative from Holmes-co and field manager of the Ohio Newspaper Association, will be the principal speaker at the next meeting of the club on Monday night, Oct. 7.

GETS DRUNK WHILE IN NEW LEX. JAIL

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Many men have been jailed for being intoxicated, but Harry ("Tug") Wilson is one up on the rest of the crowd. He was jailed and then became drunk. According to other prisoners, Wilson smuggled several half pints of liquor into the jail when he was incarcerated after state dry agent found a half pint of liquor on him. The agent apparently did not search the man thoroughly, or else Wilson is a Houdini at hiding things.

Autoists Must Stop Cars After Road Accidents

Pickaway-co autoists will be interested in the obligation of a motorist in stopping after an accident, as set forth in a section of the general code, were explained by Attorney General Bettman Monday in an opinion to Prosecutor Michael E. Underwood of Hardin-co.

The law provides that the motorist must return to the place of the accident and give the person injured, or any person, an opportunity to obtain his name and address, or the name and address of the owner, if the car does not belong to him, the attorney general said.

The question of whether a mere stopping by the driver is a sufficient compliance with the general code depends upon circumstances, he added.

The opinion said "the object of this section would not be satisfied by the driver stopping at some obscure or remote place, nor by stopping at the scene of an accident where the injured person is unconscious and no one else is present, without waiting a reasonable length of time for anyone who might request the information."

"However, it is possible," the attorney general said, "that there may be a case where it was evident that no person who could make the request was likely to appear, such as where a person is only slightly injured and leaves the scene of the accident or collision."

"In that case the stopping may be a sufficient compliance with the law."

Any driver who fails to comply with the section is subject to a fine of not more than $200 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or both.

SERVICES FOR OPENING SHOW ARE PLANNED

Annual Exposition Will Be Dedicated To Agriculture of Pickaway-Co.

An innovation will mark the annual Circleville Pumpkin Show this year when it will be formally opened with a dedicatory service at the Pickaway-co court house.

At this service, to be attended by the ministers of all denominations in Pickaway-co, the Pumpkin Show will be dedicated to the agricultural pursuits in the county.

The decision to hold this service was made by the show directors at their meeting Monday night at the city hall. The meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, on the steps of the court house and in case of rain it will be held in the common pleas court room.

WARREN TO SPEAK
The principal address will be made by M. C. Warren, county superintendent of schools, who will tell how agriculture in Pickaway-co has made such an exposition possible. The attending minister will conduct the service.

It was announced by T. D. Krinn, director of amusements, that he had signed Pina & Goldsberry to give their bounding wire act and slide for life each day of the show. The attraction will be located at Main and Scioto-sts. Anita Pina was the star wire performer of the Christy Brothers circus last season and performs breath-taking feats on a tight wire without the aid of any balancing apparatus. She is the bride of Hugh Goldsberry, also with the Christy Brothers' circus, and they will give the act at the Pumpkin Show which they will present on the leading vaudeville circuits this winter. Goldsberry will perform the "slide for life" for which he is famous in all parts of the country.

FOUR BANDS OBTAINED

There will be two bands on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the show. The Yellowbud band will open the exposition Wednesday and will play daily for the various free acts, four or five more of which Mr. Krinn expects to sign. Other bands at the show and the days on which they will be heard are: Lancaster Liberty band, Thursday; Ashville band, Friday and Laurelville band, Saturday.

E. C. Frieze, secretary of the Pumpkin Show, has received word from Carl L. Van Voorhis, assistant chief game warden of Ohio, that his department will have 12 cages of Ohio wild animals and birds to exhibit here. The exhibit will be in charge of Tony Pfarr, of Marysville, and will be free of charge to the public.

KIDNAPER TAKES MILLIONAIRE'S SON

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Hundreds of police and detectives today joined in a search for five-year-old Jackie Thompson, son of a millionaire real estate man, who was kidnapped from his home here last night.

Wife Charged With Slaying Hubby After Argument Over Bridge Game

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 1.—John G. Bennett, a husband who played a bad game of bridge once too often, lay dead today. Bennett was shot to death by his wife, according to police, after she had broken up the bridge game in their exclusive Park Manor apartment Sunday night.

Fleeing from his wife after she brandished a pistol, Bennett was shot down in the doorway of his bedroom after hastily slamming a door to save himself from death. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman were the guests of the Bennetts and were their opponents in the fatal bridge game. During the first part of the game the Bennetts won consistently, but later on the Hoffmans began winning. They were playing for a tenth of a cent a point.

Bennett bid one spade when the fatal play was made. Hoffman bid two diamonds. Mrs. Bennett raised to four spades and Mrs. Hoffman passed. Bennett played the hand, his wife laying hers down for dummy.

Mrs. McPherson's Beauty Bill Causes Followers to Desert Her

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON, Los Angeles evangelist, spent $40.50 on beauty treatments while she was in Detroit, Mich., on a recent soul saving campaign, and thereby alienated herself from followers in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Dawson MacCullough.

"And that $40.50 for facials and marcel wasn't all," said Mr. MacCullough, who was formerly State Superintendent of the Four Square Gospel, the religious faith founded by Mrs. McPherson.

He said total expenses for her fifteen-day evangelistic campaign in Detroit amounted to $18,008 and left a deficit of $9,171 for the local church which had guaranteed expenses.

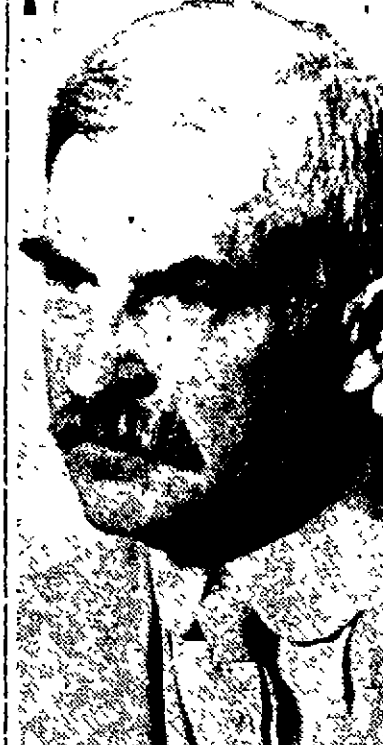

When the congregation protested strongly, Mr. MacCullough said Mrs. McPherson sent a check for $500.

Her bills included hotel, $674; personal, $180; flowers, $63, and unexplained miscellaneous items, $995. The hotel bill included five cents for a newspaper, $142.50 for meals and $40.50 for beauty treatments.

Mr. MacCullough said the bills indicated that Mrs. McPherson had "financially betrayed" her Michigan followers.

VETS PARADE, MAKE MERRY

Legionnaires Have Day of Fun and Whoopie at Convention At Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 1.—(INS.)—After a day in which merry making was the dominant activity, 50,000 or so delegates to the 11th annual convention of the American Legion here were prepared today for still another 24 hours of fun and whoopie.

No official business is scheduled to be transacted at today's session of the annual veterans' confab so the entire day will doubtless be devoted to things of less serious nature.

Headlining today's program will be a gala parade through the principal streets of Louisville, in which all visiting Legion posts will participate.

Elaborate preparations have been made for this parade, which indicates that the good burghers of Louisville will have an opportunity to witness military color and pageantry of unprecedented nature. An outstanding feature of the big procession will be the appearance of the many Legion musical organizations. Prominent among those musically-inclined veterans will be the fife and drum corps of Waterfield, Iowa, post and the Clearfield, Pa., Legion band. These two outfits already have done more than their share in entertaining the visiting legionnaires.

Other events scheduled for today include a military flying circus at Bowman Field, a sight-seeing tour and a reception for the national commander.

WHEAT BEING PLANTED HERE

Passing of "Fly Safe" Date Sees Drills Busy Throughout County.

Drills are clicking throughout Pickaway-co with the passing of Monday, Sept. 30, the "fly safe" date. Farmers are busy planting their winter wheat and indications are that a slight increase in acreage is being planted this year than last, according to H. S. Lewis, county farm agent.

Planting of wheat about Five Points, Mt. Sterling and Derby will be delayed a week because of the immaturity of the corn. Planting in those districts is expected to be underway next week.

Only a few of the Pickaway-co farmers disregarded the recommendations of the farm bureau in regard to the planting of wheat after the "fly safe" date, Mr. Lewis states.

64 GET PENSIONS

Sixty-four mothers of Pickaway county were granted mothers pensions by Probation Officer L. M. Brown Monday afternoon. These pensions are granted every six months.

COMMUNITIES ARE CUT OFF BY HURRICANE

U. S. Destroyer Missing As Wind Storm Backtracks Destruction Path.

(By International News Service)
The fate of a dozen towns in southern Alabama and the north-western tip of Florida were shrouded by silence today in the wake of the erratic West Indian hurricane which early today lashed across south Georgia.

A number of towns believed to have been in or near the core of the storm have been cut off from outside communication for hours. Washed out rail lines and flooded roads made it impossible to reach them from nearby cities.

The largest of the isolated towns was Tallahassee, the state capital of Florida, cut off from wire communication since midnight. Tallahassee was near the center of the disturbance.

STORM BACK-TRACKS
The back-tracking, slow-squalling hurricane struck in full force some 30 miles east of Pensacola, Fla., early last night, according to the belief of meteorologists, but comparatively small damage was done.

The storm, reports indicated, apparently moved northward from Pensacola, beating a path through an area bounded by Andalusia, Ala., and Great View and Panama City, Fla. Lines to these points failed after nightfall.

Late reports from Detham, Graceville and other points in Alabama indicated the hurricane was diminishing in force very rapidly and would lapse into an ordinary gale as it passed toward the open sea.

SIX ARE DEAD
Communication with Andalusia, a town of about 20,000 people, 100 miles south of Montgomery, failed at 8 p. m. just before the last telephone line went out, the town reported the wind was increasing and the light and water plants were out of commission. As the storm brushed across Georgia it brought heavy rain squalls to an area that already was imperiled by floods, as streams were leaping wildly over their banks following a week's steady deluge.

Six dead, millions of dollars crop and property damage, paralyzed communication systems, and disrupted traffic, was the toll of the Georgia flood.

DESTROYER OVERDUE
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Naval communications here today reported that the ex-destroyer Truxton, which left Baracoa, Cuba, for Tampa, Fla., Wednesday, was overdue at her destination. The navy station here has received no word of the Truxton as the ship is not equipped with radio.

TALLAHASSEE REPORTED
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Communication with Tallahassee, Fla., which had been isolated from the outside since midnight, was restored shortly after 9 a. m., C. S. T., today.

The Atlanta bureau of International News Service received a telephone call from the Tallahassee Democrat, which reported that no great damage had resulted from the storm there, although the power plant had been put out of commission.

WRECK VICTIM'S RITES WEDNESDAY

After funeral services at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in Shaderville, E. church, Emory A. Hinson, 22, Shaderville, who died Sunday in Mercy hospital from injuries suffered in an auto accident, will be buried at South Bloomfield.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinson five sisters, Mrs. Beatie O'Rourke, 1233 Bruck-st.; Mrs. Lucy Morehart, Mrs. Ruth Fisher and Mrs. Garnet Caylor of Shaderville and Mrs. Della Tobias of New Lexington, and his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Ashville, survive.

WORK IS RESUMED

Mrs. McPherson's Beauty Bill Causes Followers to Desert Her

AMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON, Los Angeles evangelist, spent $40.50 on beauty treatments while she was in Detroit, Mich., on a recent soul saving campaign, and thereby alienated herself from followers in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Dawson MacCullough.

"And that $40.50 for facials and marcel wasn't all," said Mr. MacCullough, who was formerly State Superintendent of the Four Square Gospel, the religious faith founded by Mrs. McPherson.

He said total expenses for her fifteen-day evangelistic campaign in Detroit mounted to $19,608 and left a deficit of $9,171 for the local church which had guaranteed expenses.

When the congregation protested strongly, Mr. MacCullough said Mrs. McPherson sent a check for $500.

Her bills included hotel, $674; personal, $180; flowers, $53, and unexplained miscellaneous items, $995.

The hotel bill included five cents for a newspaper, $142.50 for meals and $40.50 for beauty treatments.

Mr. MacCullough said the bills indicated that Mrs. McPherson had "financially betrayed" her Michigan followers.

VETS PARADE, MAKE MERRY

Legionnaires Have Day of Fun and Whoopie at Convention at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 1.—(INS.)—After a day in which merry making was the dominant activity, 50,000 or so delegates to the 11th annual convention of the American Legion here were prepared today for still another 24 hours of fun and whoopie.

No official business is scheduled to be transacted at today's session of the annual veterans' confab so the entire day will doubtless be devoted to things of less serious nature.

Headlining today's program will be a gala parade through the principal streets of Louisville, in which all visiting Legion posts will participate.

Elaborate preparations have been made for this parade, which indicates that the good burghers of Louisville will have an opportunity to witness military color and pageantry of unprecedented nature. An outstanding feature of the big procession will be the appearance of the many Legion musical organizations. Prominent among those musically-inclined veterans will be the fire and drum corps of Waterloo, Iowa, post and the Clearfield, Pa., Legion band. These two outfits already have done more than their share in entertaining the visiting legionnaires.

Other events scheduled for today include a military flying circus at Bowman Field, a sight-seeing tour and a reception for the national commander.

WHEAT BEING PLANTED HERE

Passing of "Fly Safe" Date
Sees Drills Busy Throughout County.

Drills are clicking throughout Pickaway-co with the passing of Monday, Sept. 30, the "fly safe" date. Farmers are busy planting their winter wheat and indications are that a slight increase in acreage is being planted this year than last, according to H. S. Lewis, county farm agent.

Planting of wheat about Five Points, Mt. Sterling and Derby will be delayed a week because of the immaturity of the corn. Planting in those districts is expected to be underway next week.

Only a few of the Pickaway-co farmers disregarded the recommendations of the farm bureau in regard to the planting of wheat after the "fly safe" date, Mr. Lewis states.

COMMUNITIES ARE CUT OFF BY HURRICANE

U. S. Destroyer Missing As Wind Storm Back-tracks
Destruction Path.

(By International News Service)

The fate of a dozen towns in southern Alabama and the north-western tip of Florida were sealed by silence today in the wake of the erratic West Indian hurricane which early today lashed across south Georgia.

A number of towns believed to have been in or near the core of the storm have been cut off from outside communication for hours. Washed out rail lines and flooded roads made it impossible to reach them from nearby cities.

The largest of the isolated towns was Tallahassee, the state capital of Florida, cut off from wire communication since midnight. Tallahassee was near the center of the disturbance.

STORM BACK-TRACKS

The back-tracking, slow-squirming hurricane struck in full force some 30 miles east of Pensacola, Fla., early last night, according to the belief of meteorologists, but comparatively small damage was done.

The storm, reports indicated, apparently moved northeastward from Pensacola, beating a path through an area bounded by Andalusia, Ala., and Great View and Panama City, Fla. Lines to these points failed after nightfall.

Late reports from Dothan, Graceville and other points in Alabama indicated the hurricane was diminishing in force very rapidly and would lapse into an ordinary gale as it passed toward the ocean over flood-wracked Georgia.

SIX ARE DEAD

Communication with Andalusia, a town of about 20,000 persons, 100 miles south of Montgomery, failed at 8 p. m. just before the last telephone line went out, the town reported the wind was increasing and the light and water plants were out of commission.

As the storm brushed across Georgia it brought heavy rain squalls to an area that already was imperilled by floods, as streams were leaping wildly over their banks following a week's steady deluge.

Six dead, millions of dollars crop and property damage, paralyzed communication systems, and disrupted traffic, was the toll of the Georgia flood.

DESTROYER OVERDUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Naval communications here today reported that the ex-destroyer Truxton, which left Baracoa, Cuba, for Tampa, Fla., Wednesday, was overdue at her destination. The navy station here has received no word of the Truxton as the ship is not equipped with radio.

TALLAHASSEE REPORTS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(INS.)—Communication with Tallahassee, Fla., which had been isolated from the outside since midnight, was restored shortly after 9 a. m., C. S. T. today.

The Atlanta bureau of International News Service received a telephone call from the Tallahassee Democrat, which reported that no great damage had resulted from the storm there, although the power plant had been put out of commission.

Awful Rheumatic Affliction Ended By Hoyt's Compound. Ohio Man Happy With New Health.

"I haven't an ACH OR PAIN in my body since I started taking Hoyt's Compound. I seem to be in perfect health now and I owe it all to this remarkable medicine." These were the words of Mr. Arthur Borland, 1612 Prospect Avenue, Springfield, Ohio, who is

MR. ARTHUR BORLAND, the latest Ohio resident to speak up in praise of Hoyt's Compound.

"I have never before taken a medicine that has done me half so much good as Hoyt's and I have taken many different remedies during the past few years," said Mr. Borland. "I had sadly neglected my health and became run down and always felt tired and run down and draggy and was so restless at night that I got very little sleep. My rest was always broken two or three times every night because of weak kidneys and then I began to have rheumatism and my feet and ankles would swell so that I couldn't even lace my shoes. I was a chronic sufferer of constipation and I was forced to resort to pills and salts which seemed to do more harm than good."

"I had read so many TRUTHFUL endorsements for Hoyt's Compound that I decided to try it as the last straw and I am certainly happy now for I am enjoying good health once again all because of HOYT'S COMPOUND. As stated before I haven't an ache or pain in my whole body and I sleep well at night since my kidneys are regulated. My bowels are just like clock work and my stomach is in perfect condition. I can stand and run this remarkable remedy because it is the greatest medicine I have ever taken and has made me feel better than I have felt at any time in recent years."

probably take place before these eleven take the field again next Saturday in their second games of the 1929 season.

Upsets and surprises were a feature of last Saturday's games and coaches of the losing teams will attempt changes in their line-ups to remedy weak spots. Even methods of attack will be altered where the mentors deem it necessary.

Ohio State will take the field for the first time this week, together with Hiram and Wilberforce. Judging from the Ohio State varsity scrimmage with the reserve team last Saturday, Wittenberg should give the Buckeyes a tough job. Holman, about whom so much squabble has been made in the Western conference this year, has been changed back to his old post at quarterback. McConnell and Horn played the halves and Holcomb, a sophomore, started the scrimmage at fullback. The 25-0 beating handed the reserves was not impressive.

BISHOPS, MIAMI STRONG Wittenberg looms as a strong contender for the Buckeye championship again, but both Ohio Wesleyan and Miami will present strong teams in the race. All three teams showed strength in last week's games. Although Cincinnati trounced the little Cedarville team, there was nothing to boast of in the Bearcats. Denison showed plenty of fight in holding the strong Navy team to seven touchdowns.

Ohio University will bear watching from all its foes in the rest of the campaign. They trounced Pat Page's University of Indiana reserve team 18-0, and are primed for their next game with West Liberty of Pennsylvania.

Oberlin, which took a 19-0 victory over Kent State, faces Denison, and St. Xavier, conqueror of Transylvania, tackles Georgetown, another Kentucky team.

Wilberforce opens its season Saturday at Bluefield W. Va., while Miami, which took a rest last Saturday, plays host to Wooster.

Toledo, which suffered a 26-0 beating at the hands of the highly-touted Akron team, has an open date Saturday and will attempt a comeback before the following week.

DEFIANCE IS STRONG Every member of the Northwest conference was defeated last week, but Defiance, which was upset by Ashland, appears to have the best bet for conference honors this year.

Fans will be watching John Carroll in its coming game with Adrian. The Irish ran up 90 points against Valparaiso, and is expected to swamp the Michigan aggregation.

Ashland will have a tough job when it travels to Washington, Pa., to meet the strong Washington and Jefferson eleven which beat Ohio Northern last Saturday.

Cincinnati establishes something new in Ohio grid history by playing in mid-week. They go to Louisville, Ky., Wednesday to play the University of Louisville.

Capital meets Bluffton; Otterbein plays the plucky little Kenyon team, and Dayton goes to Detroit, Mich., to meet the University of Detroit gridders Friday. The Dayton-Detroit game will be played at night. The Flyers initiated the night game idea in Ohio last Saturday night and have two more after-dark contests on their 1929 menu.

CLOUDS FIGHT FOR POSITIONS

Grant's Quintet Will Place Strong Team In Cage Game This Season.

Grant's Flying Clouds will hold their first meeting Tuesday, Oct. 1st, at the C. A. C. All Clouds will belong to C. A. C. as those not belonging are putting in applications for membership.

Berths for position on the team will be hotly contested. Forward positions will be well fortified with "Dutch" Weller, Ray List, last year's players, and Joe Barnes, local well known topper, striving to win regular position. Center position will be between Willis Liston, who has played center for the last two years, and a new comer to local sport circles, Howard White, well known Chillicothe all-around athletic star. White is looked to strengthen the team on both offensive and defensive.

At guard only one regular remains, Bob Maloney, who last year played an offensive as well as defensive game outscoring the forwards which he guarded. The other guard position will lie between "Jumping Joe" Glitt who last year played all positions and "Cuzz" Dumm, last year's able coach, who coached the Clouds to 17 victories to 8 defeats.

With this array of players and coached by Circleville's leading forward of recent years, Art Steele, the Clouds look forward to a promising year.

Years of Suffering Banished By New Medicine—Lady Praises It.

MRS. NANCY HENRY.

"For a long time I had suffered from stomach trouble," said Mrs. Nancy Henry, 180 West Evergreen Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, "and all the miserable distress that goes with an ailment of that kind." My food did not digest and no matter what I ate, suffering followed. Gas formed and bloating followed. I was lacking in pep and energy and was greatly discouraged.

"I had heard a lot about Konjola and decided to try it. Right from the start I noticed a wonderful improvement. My stomach responded to this new medicine and in a short time was in normal, healthy condition. Food digests as it should and my appetite is fine. I eat what I want and never suffer in the least. Gas and bloating are gone. I owe all this new health to Konjola and recommend this new medicine to all who suffer as I did."

GREENLEE TO MEET SWARTZ

Columbus Battler Will Meet Lancaster Flash In Main Bout At Grand.

In the surprise bout promised by the promoters, Jack Greenlee, star featherweight from Les Huffman's fast stable out of Columbus, will oppose Biff Swartz, Lancaster flash, at the Grand theater Wednesday night. Swartz has won via the kayo route in 12 out of his last 14 bouts and is confident of repeating. But if he intends to win from the highly touted Greenlee, he will have to step for Les Huffman, maker of fighters, says that Greenlee is one of the best he has ever managed. He is fast and can hit with either hand, constantly, boring in through gloves from every angle, in all, a real crowd pleaser.

These boys met in a hectic bout last summer and before the bout was over they had both kissed the canvas twice each and the roaring crowd was on their feet the entire fight. Other bouts on the program bring together Mexican Kid, Cincinnati, and Kid Brown, who hails from Chillicothe. A large aggregation from Chillicothe will be out to back their boy to the limit. Both boys weigh in at 126 pounds. In another three rounds Roy McQuade will oppose Art Culp at 135 pounds.

Merle Davis, speedy little east-side midget, will attempt to lower the colors of Kid Beck. Both are local boys. A regular program of pictures accompany the boxing program. Doors open promptly at 6:30 Wednesday night. Popular prices prevail.

Few people know that considerable carbon forms on the underside of the piston heads. When this carbon is hard and gritty, small particles chip off and drop into the crankcase oil where they are just as dangerous as a handful of cinders.

But you can keep these abrasive particles out of your crankcase by using Shell Motor Oil.

Here is one oil which has an extremely low carbon content—one-half to one-third less than many otherwise fine lubricants. And the small amount of carbon which forms in a Shell-lubricated engine is soft, fluffy and talcum-like. It readily blows out with the exhaust gases.

CLOUDS FIGHT FOR POSITIONS

Grant's Quintet Will Place Strong Team In Cage Game This Season.

Grant's Flying Clouds will hold their first meeting Tuesday Oct. 1st, at the C. A. C. All Clouds will belong to C. A. C. as those not belonging are putting in applications for membership.

Berths for position on the team will be hotly contested. Forward positions will be well fortified with "Dutch" Wefler, Ray List, last year's players, and Joe Barnes, local well known tosser, striving to win regular position. Center position will be between Willis Liston, who has played center for the last two years, and a new comer to local sport circles, Howard White, well known Chillicothe all-around athletic star. White is looked to strengthen the team on both offensive and defensive.

At guard only one regular remains, Bob Maloney, who last year played an offensive as well as defensive game outscoring the forwards which he guarded. The other guard position will lie between "Jumping Joe" Glitt who last year played all positions and "Cuzz" Dumm, last year's able coach, who coached the Clouds to 17 victories to 8 defeats.

With this array of players and coached by Circleville's leading forward of recent years, Art Steele, the Clouds look forward to a promising year.

"SURPRISED AT QUICK RELIEF FROM KONJOLA"

Years of Suffering Banished By New Medicine—Lady Praises It.

MRS. NANCY HENRY.

"For a long time I had suffered from stomach trouble," said Mrs. Nancy Henry, 180 West Evergreen Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, "and all the miserable distress that goes with an ailment of that kind." My food did not digest, and no matter what I ate, suffering followed. Gas formed and bloating followed. I was lacking in pep and energy and was greatly discouraged.

"I had heard a lot about Konjola, and decided to try it. Right from the start I noticed a wonderful improvement. My stomach responded to this new medicine and in a short time was in a normal, healthy condition. Food digests as it should and my appetite is fine. I eat what I want and never suffer in the least. Gas and bloating are gone. I owe all this new health to Konjola and recommend this new medicine to all who suffer as I did."

Konjola is sold in Circleville, Ohio, at the Hamilton & Ryan drug store, and by the best druggists in all the towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Human Emotion Based on Electric Current?

Is love simply the result of electrical attraction? Is the human body an electric battery and our life, energy, and vitality dependent on how strong a current we create?

A doctor has stirred up tremendous discussion by declaring that chemical activity in the cells of the human body produces electricity, that this electricity maintains the life process, and that lack of it finally causes death.

He believes the human current has a great influence over all our emotions, including love, and thinks this may explain why certain people are attracted to one another, or vice versa.

A famous electrical expert says: "We have never isolated this current, and the laws of electrophysiology are not well known, but we have many proofs that this current exists. The body produces electricity in a score of different ways. At every muscular contraction or irritation of a nervous center there are vibrations that liberate this mysterious power."

"The least movement of a muscle produces electricity. For every heartbeat there is a corresponding oscillation of the galvanometer needle."

Make Sure of Their Men

There is no flirting among the native married men of Tasmania. Capt. Kilroy Harris, an Australian visiting in this country, says that as a part of the Tasmanian wedding ceremony the bride's father knocks out one of the bridegroom's front teeth as a sign to the world that he is married. Not satisfied with that the wedding guests cut gashes in the poor devil's back and fill these with mud to make sure the scars will be visible for life. And he can't wear a shirt for that would arouse suspicion.—Capper's Weekly.

GREENLEE TO MEET SWARTZ

Columbus Battler Will Meet Lancaster Flash in Main Bout At Grand.

In the surprise bout promised by the promoters, Jock Greenlee, star featherweight from Les Huffman's fast stable out of Columbus, will oppose Biff Swartz, Lancaster flash, at the Grand theater Wednesday night. Swartz has won via the kayo route in 12 out of his last 14 bouts and is confident of repeating. But if he intends to win from the highly touted Greenlee, he will have to step for Les Huffman, maker of fighters, says that Greenlee is one of the best he has ever managed. He is fast and can hit with either hand, constantly, boring in through gloves from every angle, in all, a real crowd pleaser.

These boys met in a hectic bout last summer and before the bout was over they had both kissed the canvas twice each and the roaring crowd was on their feet the entire fight. Other bouts on the program bring together Mexican Kid, Cincinnati, and Kid Brown, who hails from Chillicothe. A large aggregation from Chillicothe will be out to back their boy to the limit. Both boys weigh in at 126 pounds. In another three rounds Roy McQuade will oppose Art Culp at 135 pounds.

Merle Davis, speedy little east-side midget, will attempt to lower the colors of Kid Beck. Both are local boys. A regular program of pictures accompany the boxing program. Doors open promptly at 6:30 Wednesday night. Popular prices prevail.

Keep cinders out of your crankcase

Few people know that considerable carbon forms on the underside of the piston heads. When this carbon is hard and gritty, small particles chip off and drop into the crankcase oil where they are just as dangerous as a handful of cinders.

But you can keep these abrasive particles out of your crankcase by using Shell Motor Oil.

Here is one oil which has an extremely low carbon content—one-half to one-third less than many otherwise fine lubricants. And the small amount of carbon which forms in a Shell-lubricated engine is soft, fluffy and talcum-like. It readily blows out with the exhaust gases.

Users of Shell Motor Oil are not bothered by scored cylinders and bearings. Shell creates no sharp-edged carbon grains to scratch their gritty way across metal surfaces. In addition, regular users report fewer carbon removal jobs, and freedom from power losses due to "frozen" piston rings and pitted valves.

Shell Motor Oil is prepared from Nature's richest lubricating crude by the Shell-developed, low-temperature refining process. And tested 259 times to certify that every quart has all four essentials of correct lubrication: Low Carbon Content, Non-Fouling Carbon, Ideal Body at All Operating Temperatures, and Low Pour Point.

"Mutt and Jeff" On Their Honeymoon Will Be Seen On Stage at Grand.

From all accounts the ancient feud that has existed between Mutt and Jeff, Bud Fisher's famous classics, has been satisfactorily patched.

This fact, it is understood, has been thoroughly and decisively established in the new side-splitting comedy with music, "Mutt and Jeff's Honeymoon." In this triumph of fun, revelry, screams, laughter, surprises, novelties and innovations, Little Jeff undertakes the somewhat Herculean task of acting as counsel and general adviser in Mutt's unfortunate marital affairs. The result can be better imagined than chronicled.

Suffice to say that everything Jeff does is totally wrong and Mutt spend many an uncomfortable hour extricating himself from a mess of unexpected entanglements. The offering is in two acts with six scenes and runs the gamut of some of the heartiest merriments it has been our good fortune to report in many a day. The attraction will hold the boards at the Grand Theater, Circleville, for one evening's performance soon.

CHURCH SEEKS TO GAIN FUND

St. Paul African Methodist Church Needs Money For Debts and Repairs.

In order to cancel an indebtedness, the St. Paul African Methodist church, of which Rev. H. Keene is pastor, is asking the aid of the population of Circleville in raising a fund of $1,000 in the shortest possible time.

This fund will also be used to make some much needed repairs on the building, which is in poor condition.

The pastor of the church has made this appeal to the people to help a small, deserving congregation, who are loyal to their church, and who will appreciate all that is given to help them.

Rev. T. Ruggles has consented to act as treasurer of the funds received by this drive, and all donations should be sent to him at the Second National bank.

But when you place an 'r' before it, getting 'rough,' you say 'truh.' Then when you make it 'through' you say 'thru.' It's almost too much for me."

Cincinnati Republican Leader Is Touted To Fill His Federal Job.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—(INS) Reports were circulated here today that Haveth E. Mau, United States district attorney, would resign from that position about January 1, and that Charles W. Baker, Cincinnati Republican leader, would be appointed to succeed the federal official.

Mau's name has been frequently mentioned as a possible successor to Mrs. Isabel Walker Wilbrandt, former assistant U. S. attorney general, in charge of prohibition enforcement.

It was stated, however, that Mau would enter a private law firm here.

Mau, formerly of Dayton, attained nation-wide notice because of his rigid prohibition enforcement activities. He prosecuted the "beer-brewery-bribery" case of Bert B. Buckley and secured a conviction against the former state treasurer.

Baker, who has been mentioned as Mau's successor, is special Cincinnati counsel on Attorney General Gilbert E. Bennett's staff, and, at one time, was assistant prosecutor of Hamilton-co.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

THE BRAIN IS SUPREME

Remember how on Fourth of July night you used to take a little fireworks stick called a sparkler, and whirl it about? You wove circles, figure eights, all sorts of fantastic patterns in the air. And at that time didn't realize that the figures you were seeing didn't exist at all. It was your eyes that were deceiving you.

Try the same experiment any time with a match or a glowing cigar. You can't trust your eyes. That's why so many of us need glasses.

You can't trust your nose, either. The sweetish, almond smell may come from deadly cyanide of potassium. Many of the poison gases in the World War had a not unpleasant smell—at first.

Your ears are just as unreliable. Just try to whistle a tune in someone's presence. Unless you are a phenomenon, you'll whistle mostly wrong notes, off key. Your whistler's all right. It's your ear that's playing a trick on you.

Your taste, allied to smell, is equally deceptive. The sense of touch is probably the most reliable of all, but it is a poor thing at best. How would you like to sit down blindfolded among enemies, and agree to eat whatever you might be permitted to feel of?

Then if the five senses are such poor servants, how is it we get along so well with their aid? It is because the brain directing them is more perfect than any one sense. When the eyes fail, the brain orders the touch-sense and the hearing-sense to help out.

No life, no home, no business, can be successfully carried on without a central mind more capable than any of the subordinates. Just as your sense, co-operating, achieve what no single one could do, so in your every activity you will find most success if you, too, learn to co-operate. Know when to subordinate yourself, and be not afraid when it comes your time to command.

PICTURE LESSONS

Picture have played a vital part in the shaping of the destinies of the world and the individual. They are an inspiration either for good or evil—depending on the picture. Good pictures find their way into the cottages or castles of the thoughtful and the cultured. The thoughtful and the cultured bring good pictures into their cottages or castles.

We can not afford to purchase the originals of the few immortal masterpieces but modern commercial beneficently brings within the reach of the humblest home good copies. It is true that the rich buy "paintings" and the poor buy "prints" but no less true is it that there are millions of prints sold for each painting "sold for a fortune." There is a wealth in pictures that is unknown to "wealth." The artist could wish for no fuller and finer appreciation of his art than that bestowed upon it by those without means to own it "in oils."

The value of the picture is known to those in all walks of life. Newspapers have long recognized the news value in the picture, educators know its educational value, the church depends upon it for inspirational power. An advertising writer says "to unlock the average mind use a pictorial key." Sir Joshua Reynolds wrote "a room hung with pictures is a room hung with thoughts," and in the words of Ben Johnson, "whosoever looks not a picture is injurious to truth. The picture is the invention of heaven, the most ancient and most akin to nature. It is itself a silent work and always one and the same habit."

Men learn to paint and draw pictures—roughly and rudely at first—before learned to talk and to build himself a fire. Some of the pictures created by the genius of man will be among the last things cherished by man.

PREFERS BABIES TO POLITICIANS

Ishbel MacDonald, Daughter of Premier, Talks of Her Philosophy.

London.—A serious young woman of twenty-six, who would rather entertain babies than politicians, is for the second time in her life one of the world's most important hostesses.

Ishbel MacDonald, dark-eyed daughter of Britain's premier, J. Ramsay MacDonald, is again the mistress of No. 10 Downing street, where she had ruled the social life of the last Labor regime in 1924. Just as no one knew whether Ishbel was glad to leave the English "White House" after the Labor party's downfall, no one knows how she feels about her return. Her friends say she no longer hopes to obtain a university degree, but they believe she would like to devote all her time to social welfare work.

When, not yet twenty-one, she left her domestic science course at King's college in 1924 to take charge of the prime minister's household, society matrons held their thumbs, but Ishbel made a great social success of the Labor administration.

She is independent. Her reply to a woman who volunteered to help choose her gowns and give advice on court behavior showed characteristic independence.

"I have chosen my own gowns," she said, "and I think I shall know how to behave in court."

She soon became a favorite of the queen and so great was her popularity with the people that hundreds of baby girls in all parts of Britain were christened Ishbel.

A picture which alone adorned the living room of "No. 10" in 1924 is back in the same place today. It is a photograph of the garden seat in Lincoln Inn fields which bears the following inscription: "This seat has been placed here in memory of Margaret MacDonald, who spent her life in helping others in need. She took no rest from doing good."

Friends of the MacDonald family have said that Ishbel is much like her mother, a noted welfare worker. Ishbel has spent much time studying the problems of poverty, motherhood, and infant mortality. She chose a seat on the London county council in preference to one in parliament so that she could carry on her work among the poorer classes.

Her Social Philosophy. While campaigning for the Labor party, she concisely expressed her social philosophy in five points:

"I believe every mother should have the chance of bringing children into the world without impairing her own health in that natural function.

"Every family should have a decent house and healthy surroundings in which to live.

"Every child should have a good primary and secondary education.

"When large sums have been invested in developing good citizens they should be permitted to make use of their education for the benefit of themselves and their country instead of being asked to die for their country.

"I do not believe war is inevitable."

Brown, Wavy Hair. Ishbel has brown, wavy hair and a vivid, clear complexion. She plays hockey and golf, likes music but does not care for dancing. Her favorite author is George Eliot and she expresses a preference for "old-fashioned" novels. She is an enthusiastic student of chemistry.

Ishbel accompanied her father to America in 1927 and made a favorable impression. When MacDonald became ill, she took his place as the principal speaker at a socialist banquet in New York.

She has been a diligent campaigner for the Labor party, speaking for her father, her brother, and her colleagues. On the platform she drops her quiet manner and has been known to indulge in some of her father's caustic sarcasm.

Bible Lost in France Is Returned to Owner. Washington.—A Bible stolen from him in the University of Besancon at Dijon, France, during the World War ten years ago, was returned to Paramount B. White, formerly athletic coach of the Newport News High school at Newport, Va., recently.

The Bible, a gift of Mr. White's mother, was sent accompanied by a letter from Martin V. Gligovich, of 310 West One Hundred Eighty-sixth street, New York, the letter said it had been found in his hands as follows:

"I found a pleasure in sending your Bible to the lost in the One Hundred Eighty-sixth street subway station, found by a friend of mine. I am glad that you will be glad to have it back."

She said that she knew the Bible had been lost from Mr. White on the Western front ten years ago.

Plenty of Alarm. At the Newport News, just because the Bible was found, it was a great relief to the owner.

And Catch Them. "Very few women" say a contemporary magazine, are interested in fishing. But the boys of the boys' club are different.

This Day Attends School. The day after tomorrow, Oct. 2, is the day when the school children of the city will be in school.

THE SIREN

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. He forgets the "gang girl," Bernice Veressi, with whom he once fancied himself in love, in his dreams of Marian. Penfield Paradise, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Eddie goes to call on Marian, and Freeman, who is already there, tells Eddie to get off the premises. Freeman tries to eject him bodily and a fight starts. Marian stops the fight and tells Freeman she will decide who her guests are to be.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXII.
ANGER mounted in Tom Freeman's face until it began to purp. "All right," he granted. "But if he stays—I go." "You can suit yourself about that," Marion returned. Her attention centered upon Eddie. "I'm sorry this happened, Mr. Regan; when you come to my home I don't think you need to expect an assault in the future." "That's all right," Eddie said, unsteadily. "I had a hand in it myself." Even as they spoke, Tom Freeman jerked the screen open and secured his hat from the table in the hall. He reappeared, his eyes burning. Without a word, he marched across the veranda down the stairs and climbed into his automobile. There was a whirr of the starting mechanism. His headlights threw long beams down the tree-bordered lane to the main road. He was gone.

"Well, that ends that," Marian said, unhappily. Eddie Regan knew that it was not ended. Sooner or later there would be a final decision between him and Tom Freeman—the decision arrived at without intervention of a woman.

"I'm awfully sorry a thing like that happened here at your house," he tried to apologize. "I don't think either of you were concerned very deeply with any regard for my feeling at all," she told him pointedly. "If you think I wish seeing two men fighting, you're vastly mistaken. I hope none of the servants saw it—if they did it will be spread all over the country like wildfire."

"I'm sorry," said Eddie, meekly. "You ought to be. I can't imagine how on earth such a thing could have started."

She sat down and he noticed that his straw hat and father's head-brush lay on the floor. He picked it up and put it on the table. "You might as well sit down," she told him.

"Are you sure you want me to stay—after all this?" He had no means of pumping the depths of her irritation and a glow. "Marian," she wanted him to follow Freeman's course. "I'm sorry, but I can't imagine how on earth such a thing could have started."

"I don't want to go," he said. "I don't want to go," he said. "I don't want to go," he said.

He sat down. "I don't want to go," he said. "I don't want to go," he said.

He sat down. "I don't want to go," he said. "I don't want to go," he said.

He sat down. "I don't want to go," he said. "I don't want to go," he said.

THEATRES

STAGE STARS IN LEADS

Claudette Colbert, slender, brown-eyed beauty of stellar fame in a number of Broadway productions, and Walter Huston, one of the outstanding stars of the legitimate stage in the past five years of Broadway theatrical history, are re-united in leading roles in the Paramount all-talking film success, "The Lady Lies" at the Met theater.

In this production Huston is the handsome widower and elderly gentlemanly comical of "the great white way" plays the comedy relief role in "The Lady Lies." He was first seen and heard in talking pictures in "Gentlemen of the Press." Paramount's renowned play of newspaper life based on the stage success by Ward Morehouse. Huston also made his debut in talking films in the Morehouse opus, as Wick Snell, the inveterate inhabitant of city rooms. Ruggles was the inebriated reporter who never seemed to know which paper he was working for.

Charles Ruggles, famed as one of the leading juvenile and elderly gentlemanly comical of "the great white way" plays the comedy relief role in "The Lady Lies." He was first seen and heard in talking pictures in "Gentlemen of the Press." Paramount's renowned play of newspaper life based on the stage success by Ward Morehouse. Huston also made his debut in talking films in the Morehouse opus, as Wick Snell, the inveterate inhabitant of city rooms. Ruggles was the inebriated reporter who never seemed to know which paper he was working for.

Every important member of the cast of "Bulldog Drummond," the mystery thriller which Samuel Goldwyn is showing at the Cliftona theater, with Ronald Colman as star, is an actor of considerable stage experience.

Colman himself was a prominent juvenile on the English stage before coming to the United States and got his first chance in pictures after Henry King, the director, saw him in a New York production and signed him to play opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister." Joan Bennett, who plays the leading feminine role opposite him, is making her first appearance in films, having recently completed playing in "Jarnegan" on Broadway with her father, the famous Richard Bennett.

Lillian Tashman, the blonde temptress of the picture, began her stage career as one of Florenz Ziegfeld's glorified show girls. Montagu Love and Lawrence Grant are both well-known American stage actors in character specialties and Claude McAllister, playing Algy Longworth, Bulldog Drummond's bosom friend, played the same role in the days when "Bulldog Drummond" was the stage hit of London.

"BEAUTIFUL BUT DUMB" Patsy Ruth Miller is starred at the Grand theater tonight in "Beautiful But Dumb," a gay, fast-moving, side-splitting comedy. Universal shorts and Fox News are also on the program.

Hard to Endure How bitter a thing it is to look into happiness through another man's eyes!—Shakespeare.

"I cannot understand it," she murmured. "I don't think I'm in love with you, yet when you are close to me something passes over me and I'm not the same person I am when I'm alone. It's like a spell, and my brain doesn't seem to work. No one ever affected me that way before."

This was no conversation of love, but it flooded her with a deep, glowing emotion. The conviction was in his mind that he could if he so desired recapture her in his arms, but he made no such movement.

"When did you first feel that way?" "I was interested in you the first time I saw you—I wanted to see you again, and all the time I knew that I shouldn't. Do you remember that night at your house?" "I'll never forget it as long as I live," he declared.

"I never dreamed until then, when you kissed me—when I kissed you—that I could be so taken out of my usual self. If it could be like that all the time I would know for certain that it was love."

"It must be love," he insisted, with as much bewilderment in his voice as there was in hers. "If it's not love—what is it?" "She was silent for a long time. "I don't know. I've had likings for men—all girls have—but it was never anything like this. They never appealed to me. I liked them, but they never spread an overpowering weakness through me. If I allowed myself to drift with you—I would be almost in a swoon in your arms."

"It's got to be love," he told her tremulously. "I know it can't be true—it's too wonderful for me to believe—but a girl like you couldn't feel that way unless—"

Her eyes avoided him. "If it's not true love," she said, "it's a cheap imitation, and I don't want anything like that." He laughed nervously. "A funny thing—it sort of makes me afraid. It's something gigantic."

"Yes, it is that way. It's all new to me—this feeling—and somehow I feel I ought to fight against it. Why do you make me so helpless?" "I don't know," he admitted. "Maybe it's because I've loved you so much and wanted you so hard that it finally broke through and got to you—like radio waves pounding through rain and storms and snow. Maybe love is something like that."

"I think if it really was love I wouldn't be in any doubt about it," she objected. "Love isn't a thing of the body—a physical sensation—it's a background of all feeling. You affect me so potently that I am not myself, yet I can't picture myself married to you and sharing all your life. I've had the vague ideal of a man in my mind all my life—and you're nothing at all like I thought he would be. Tell me about yourself, Eddie."

"You might not like the story," she urged him. "I want to hear it," she urged him.

Unusual Aurora Seen One of the most brilliant displays of the aurora borealis ever seen was recently observed in Shetland. It lasted for seven hours. The lights shot northward from zenith instead of in the usual opposite direction. The colors were unusually brilliant, vivid green streamers shooting across the sky, resembling summer lightning.

Nation's Fur-Bearers

Among the states producing the most fur-bearing animals it is probable that Louisiana ranks highest on account of its large muskrat catch. Muskrats appear most plentiful in Northwestern states. All areas of this country where trapping has not been carried on extensively. Blue foxes do not occur wild in the United States. Red foxes are common throughout the greater portion of this country, most of them being in the Northern wooded regions. Fishers are found almost exclusively in the Northern states where civilization has not disturbed their haunts.

First American Newspapers
Early American newspapers varied greatly in size and shape, on account of the scarcity of news and especially the scarcity of paper. The slow methods of production naturally prevented expansion, but during the Revolutionary period the editions of some of the papers became so large that the men who pulled the levers on the presses complained of backache.

Speech Defects Curable
The public health service says that at least 1,000,000 in the United States have some form of speech defect. Of these, about 500,000 are school children who stammer or stutter. The majority of speech defects are functional, and can be corrected.

Lepers Get 147 Miles of Film; Motion Picture Producers Give Through Leonard Wood Memorial

More than 147 miles—778,000 feet to be exact—of motion picture film left New York Harbor recently as the gift of American producing companies to the Cullion leper colony in the Philippines. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, has preserved each year a custom, suggested to him by the late Major General Wood, of sending to some segregation island a gift constituting the only possible major recreation and contact with outside life for the world's saddest type of shut-in.

This year's shipment goes under the auspices of the Leonard Wood Memorial for the Eradication of Leprosy. According to executives of that organization the motion picture producers contributed a high quality of pictures, including several hundred of the most successful comedy films of the past year and such feature successes as "Les Miserables," "Variety," "The Gold Rush" and "You're in the Navy Now."

A graphic idea of what motion pictures mean to the lepers can be gained from the following letter, written to Mr. Hays by Mrs. Dorothy Paul Wade, a member of the board of directors of the Leonard Wood Memorial:

"Dear General Hays:

"May I thank you again for your very great goodness in sending such a generous gift of films to the lepers at Cullion? I so wish that you might know not only how great they are appreciated and how much pleasure and delight they give, but how much actual good they do in mental therapy—if one might call it that—to people shut away as these are in utter isolation.

"Movie night is the one gala night in the colony, and often nothing but dawn puts an end to the entertainment. The lepers come trooping into the plaza where the pictures are shown, men, women and children, in festa mood and dressed in their gayest, long before the sunset is well out of the sky, and stand waiting, eager and excited, until it is dark enough for the pictures to show plainly. Over and over the reels are run until far into the night, each reappearance of the picture seeming to make them only fresher and funnier and more delightful. And if "Caricoto," for instance, their beloved little Charlie with his sad eyes and eloquent shoes—the sunrise is literally the only thing that accomplishes the final fadeout. At intervals all night long you can hear the unabated waves of mirth and applause that sweep up from the colony plaza.

"You have been very, very good to these pitiful children, and they appreciate it and thank you for it deeply than I know how to tell you."

The Leonard Wood Memorial has $1,500,000 in hand of a $2,000,000 fund which it seeks for study and research to conquer this dreaded disease. Progress already made is indicated by the fact that more than 2,000 cases have been dismissed from the leprosarium at Cebu as complete cures. Colonel Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, is honorary president of the memorial and Major-General James G. Harbord is president.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—HERE'S BROWN OCTOBER.

Frankly, we are delighted that October is here. A beautiful month to begin with, but what is more important, it offers an infinite variety of subjects to be discussed in 'Round the Town. There's Columbus Day, the World Series, football, Halloween, and above all, this cool and cooler weather which just seems to demand some editorial attention.

The fact is, October weather is the handwriting on the wall. You know what we mean. Cool, cooler, cold. The whole thing in three short words. It's the month when the home folks get ready to do one of two things: Suffer through another winter with hit-or-miss heating methods, or enjoy whole-house comfort in their homes all winter long.

For those who prefer the former, we have no message. If they want to shiver and shake like Gilda Gray all winter long why that's their business. Chills, discomfort, cold bedrooms and a great big fuel expense all that is theirs and no questions asked.

But the latter... well, come right in! It's comfort you want? All over the house? And an honest-to-goodness chance to get an even break on the coal bill this year? If so, meet the new member of your family, Estate Heatrola. The new Estate Heatrola we should say, for it's had a facial and gone modern. An entirely new cabinet if you please, more beautiful than ever, but still, the same old warming qualities are there to send June warmth all over the house—upstairs and down. Now, during these first cool fall days, is the time to order. Terms to your liking.

Brighten up your home with a new floor lamp, a table lamp or bridge lamp. A complete line of electric lamps on display. Come in and make your selection at once. These are real values, and they won't last long.

By the way, before you start the difficult task of Fall house cleaning with the old broom—phone us for a free trial of the new model Bee-Vac Vacuum Cleaner. We'll come out to your home and show you what it will do in cleaning your furniture. We'll show what a wonderful machine it is for keeping your house spick and span, how much time and trouble it saves, and how you may easily own one through our convenient deferred payment plan. No obligation.

Frank Lynch, who tells us he has just purchased a new zipper traveling bag, adds that another good place for a zipper would be on string beans.

An Englishman and an Irishman, riding together, passed a gallows:

"Where would you be," said the Englishman, "if the gallows had its dues?"

"Riding alone, I guess," answered Pat.

Miss Sara Swearingen, who has just returned from a belated vacation at the seashore informs us that life out there is just one tan thing after another.

If you are in need of a new kitchen table, be sure to come in and see our line. We have all kinds of kitchen tables in all sizes.

Even if cold weather is on the way, don't be fooled into thinking you don't need a refrigerator. For the safe preservation of food, we suggest a Leonard.

Smoking stands, end tables, book racks—all sorts of occasional furniture for the home.

"I am not well, doctor."

"How do you live?"

"Like any other poor dog—I work like a horse all day. I am always ravenous as a wolf, then I am as tired as a dog and sleep like a bear."

"You had better consult a veterinary surgeon."

Lepers Get 147 Miles of Film; Motion Picture Producers Give Through Leonard Wood Memorial

More than 147 miles—778,000 feet, to be exact—of motion picture film left New York Harbor recently as the gift of American producing companies to the Culion leper colony in the Philippines. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, has preserved each year a custom, suggested to him by the late Major General Wood, of sending to some segregation island a gift constituting the only possible major recreation and contact with outside life for the world's saddest type of shut-in.

This year's shipment goes under the auspices of the Leonard Wood Memorial for the Eradication of Leprosy. According to executives of that organization the motion picture producers contributed a high quality of pictures, including several hundred of the most successful comedy films of the past year and such feature successes as "Les Miserables," "Variety," "The Gold Rush" and "You're in the Navy Now."

A graphic idea of what motion pictures mean to the lepers can be gained from the following letter, written to Mr. Hays by Mrs. Dorothy Paul Wade, a member of the board of directors of the Leonard Wood Memorial: "Dear General Hays: "May I thank you again for your very great goodness in sending such a generous gift of films to the lepers at Culion? I so wish that you might know not only how greatly they are appreciated and how much pleasure and delight they give, but how much actual good they do in mental therapy—if one might call it that—to people shut away as these are in utter isolation. "Movie night is the one gala night in the colony, and often nothing but dawn puts an end to the entertainment. The lepers come trooping into the plaza where the pictures are shown, men, women and children, in fiesta mood and dressed in their gayest, long before the sunset is well out of the sky, and stand waiting, eager and excited, until it is dark enough for the pictures to show plainly. Over and over the reels are run until far into the night, each reappearance of the picture seeming to make them only fresher and funnier and more delightful. And if some special favorite is playing—"Carlotto," for instance, their beloved little Charlie with his sad eyes and eloquent shoes—the sunrise is literally the only thing that accomplishes the final fadeout. At intervals all night long you can hear the unabated waves of mirth and applause that sweep up from the colony plaza.

"You have been very, very good to these pitiful children, and they appreciate it and thank you for it as deeply than I know how to tell you."

The Leonard Wood Memorial has $1,450,000 in hand of a $2,000,000 fund which it seeks for study and research to conquer this dreaded disease. Progress already made is indicated by the fact that more than 2,000 cases have been dismissed from the leprosarium at Cebu as complete cures. Colonel Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, is honorary president of the memorial and Major-General James G. Harbord is president.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—HERE'S BROWN OCTOBER.

Frankly, we are delighted that October is here. A beautiful month to begin with, but what is more important, it offers an infinite variety of subjects to be discussed in 'Round the Town. There's Columbus Day, the World Series, football, Halloween, and above all, this cool and cooler weather which just seems to demand some editorial attention.

The fact is, October weather is the handwriting on the wall. You know what we mean. Cool, cooler, cold. The whole thing in three short words. It's the month when the home folks get ready to do one of two things: Suffer through another winter with hit-or-miss heating methods, or enjoy whole-house comfort in their homes all winter long.

For those who prefer the former, we have no message. If they want to shiver and shake like Gilda Gray all winter long, why that's their business. Chills, ills, discomfort, cold bedrooms and a great big fuel expense—all that is theirs, and no questions asked.

But the latter... well, come right in! It's comfort you want? All over the house? And an honest-to-goodness chance to get an even break on the coal bill this year? If so, meet the new member of your family—Estate Heatrola. The new Estate Heatrola we should say, for it's had a facial and gone modern. An entirely new cabinet if you please, more beautiful than ever, but still, the same old warming qualities are there to send June warmth all over the house—upstairs and down. Now, during these first cool fall days, is the time to order. Terms to your liking.

Brighten up your home with a new floor lamp, a table lamp or bridge lamp. A complete line of electric lamps on display. Come in and make your selection at once. These are real values, and they won't last long.

By the way, before you start the difficult task of Fall house cleaning with the old broom—phone us for a free trial of the new model Bee-Vac Vacuum Cleaner. We'll come out to your home and show you what it will do in cleaning your furniture. We'll show what a wonderful machine it is for keeping your house spick and span, how much time and trouble it saves, and how you may easily own one through our convenient deferred payment plan. No obligation.

Frank Lynch, who tells us he has just purchased a new zipper traveling bag, adds that another good place for a zipper would be on string beans.

An Englishman and an Irishman, riding together, passed a gallows:

"Where would you be," said the Englishman, "if the gallows had its dues?"

"Riding alone, I guess," answered Pat.

Miss Sara Swearingen, who has just returned from a belated vacation at the seashore informs us that life out there is just one tan thing after another.

If you are in need of a new kitchen table, be sure to come in and see our line. We have all kinds of kitchen tables in all sizes.

Even if cold weather is on the way, don't be fooled into thinking you don't need a refrigerator. For the safe preservation of food, we suggest a Leonard.

Smoking stands, end tables, book racks—all sorts of occasional furniture for the home.

"I am not well, doctor."

"How do you live?"

"Like any other poor dog—I work like a horse all day. I am always ravenous as a wolf, then I am as tired as a dog and sleep like a bear."

"You had better consult a veterinary surgeon."
